SAMPLE SOCIAL: VOTERS REGISTRATION

Sharing clear, ready-to-post information helps your neighbors cut through the noise and show up informed, together.

1. Registration Deadline

Use in the days leading up to Feb 2

March primaries come earlier than many Texans expect, and one key step happens early.

If you're thinking about participating, now is a good time to check your voter registration before the Feb 2 deadline.

Official information is here: <https://www.sos.texas.gov/elections>

2. Early Voting Begins

Use on or just after early voting starts

Early voting for the Texas March primaries is now open.

Many people find early voting offers more flexibility and fewer surprises.

Official voting locations and hours are available here:

DATA TO REFERENCE

Our friends at March Matters analyzed Texas election data to highlight why a campaign encouraging more Texans to vote in the March primary is so important:

Texas ranks among the lowest states nationally in voter turnout.

- Only 14% of voting-age Texans voted in the 2024 primary election.
- In 2022, 146 of 150 Texas House races were effectively decided in March, not November.
- Texans age 50+ make up 36%, or roughly one third, of the population, but account for more than 80% of primary voters.
- A vote cast in the March primary is roughly 3.5 times more influential than a vote cast in November.

WEEKLY COALITION CALLS

Participation in weekly coalition calls is optional. Partners may join at any point in the campaign to get practical updates, share questions, or listen in as schedules allow.

These are the most common questions we get.

Don't see yours? Reach out and we can help!

What is March Matters?

March Matters is a coalition-led initiative that gives Texans trusted, simple information about the primary elections. Our mission is to increase civic participation and accountability in Texas by turning one million more registered voters into primary voters by 2036.

What is Builders and the Builders Movement?

The Builders mission is to overcome "us vs. them" thinking and solve problems together. Builders equips people to uncover hidden common ground and build on it - with lasting solutions that reflect the will of the people. As a nonprofit global initiative, Builders aims to reach and teach people at scale with powerful content, equip them with new skills and innovative tools, and mobilize the growing Builders movement with grassroots civic programs to hold political leaders accountable for being Builders.

Why Do Primaries Matter?

Most races in Texas are decided in March because most districts strongly favor one political party. Only four Texas House districts were competitive in November 2022. The rest were effectively decided in the primary election.

Why Do Registered Voters Skip the Texas Primaries?

Research shows that Texans miss primaries because of four barriers:

- Information barriers
- Structural barriers
- Engagement barriers
- Cultural barriers

How Does this Help All Texans?

Winners of the March primaries decide the leaders who make decisions about things we care about like education, safety, health care, infrastructure, and affordability.

Why YOUR Work Matters?

You are a trusted voice in the community. When you activate fellow Texans, you help build a more representative electorate and a healthier civic culture.
